Residential Learning Communities Application Questions:

What makes you the best candidate for living in a Residential Learning Community?

What goals do you hope to achieve and benefits do you hope to attain as part of living in a Residential Learning Community at Kent State?

Further information:

Roommate Request: _____ Roommates email _____

You are not required to request a roommate. However, you can choose one if you wish. The roommate you request must apply for and be accepted into the same learning community you join in order to have a housing placement with you. They must also indicate that they want you as their roommate, such that you mutually agree to be each other's roommate.

What happens once I submit this application?

To participate in a Residential Learning Community, you must have an approved Residence Services housing application on file. No Residential Learning Community application will be processed without an approved housing application on file. It is best to have both of these applications submitted and approved prior to your attending Placement, Advising and Scheduling System (PASS).

If your community application is approved after you have attended PASS, you will need to contact Residence Services (330-672-7000) to request a housing assignment adjustment to the appropriate hall where that learning community is located.

Please check the Residence Services website at www.res.kent.edu for residence hall costs, information, and to verify your placement into the community after acceptance.

I understand that joining a Residential Learning Community may change my housing assignment and I would like full consideration to be part of this program. I also understand that space in this program is limited and placement will be based on approval and the date a completed application is received.
